About AdVenture Communist

AdVenture Communist is a clicky idle game in which players have to build their own communist state. In order to become the great leader one's own state, players must promote the production of goods of all kinds and thus increase the production level.

In Adventure Communist you build your own communist state. In order that your state survives and grows over time, the production of all kinds of goods is of paramount importance. Above all, the cultivation of potatoes is essential. In the further course of the game, you can also promote other industries such as the production of weapons or medicine. In order to constantly produce new goods, it is important that you invest in research. AdVenture Communist also has many missions and orders in which you can earn helpful rewards.

AdVenture Communist - Features:

- Build your own communist state: In AdVenture Communist, your main task is to build your own communist state and keep it running. Of course, the production of goods of all kinds is crucial for this. Grow potatoes, invest in new industries and employ many workers who enjoy working for the good of the state. Only if your state is growing steadily and is finding more and more supporters, you can become the great leader of the state.
- Harvest potatoes: AdVenture Communist is all about growing and harvesting potatoes. The cultivation of potatoes secures the survival of your state at the beginning of the game and is also your most important industry in the further course of the game.
- Press the green button: At the bottom of the screen you will find a green button. If you hold this button down, many objects and goods will be produced. Because of this, it's helpful for your production to keep the green button pressed with one hand during the game. All other actions can be done with your other hand.
- Invest in research: To increase the level of production of your state, strategically wise investments are of utmost importance. Investments in research in particular play a major role in AdVenture Communist. With these investments you can, for example, produce new goods, discover new industries or develop new upgrades for your economy.

Conclusion: AdVenture Communist is an entertaining game in which you have to be strategically wise. Only if you steadily increase your production level and invest in the most important economic sectors, your own communist state will gain in importance and size.
