

Kaspersky Security Cloud

About Kaspersky Security Cloud

Kaspersky Security Cloud reliably protects smartphones and tablets from the dangers of online banking and streaming as well as sending and receiving data on the internet.

With Kaspersky Security Cloud, your smartphone or tablet is optimally protected against threats from the Internet. The special aspect of the app is that the protection automatically adapts to your online activities. That means you're always protected, no matter whether you're emailing, streaming, or shopping online. Since Kaspersky uses a special cloud technology, it does not need any storage space on your device.

Kaspersky Security Cloud - Features:

- Automatic threat detection: Kaspersky Security Cloud is a so-called adaptive security service, which means that the app adapts automatically to your online behavior and to your used apps. For example, the app adjusts the protection depending on whether you are shopping on the Internet, sending or reading e-mails, or doing online banking. Since the app is active all the time and does not have to be activated manually, it detects all possible dangers automatically.
- More storage space on your device: Since Kaspersky Security Cloud uses a special cloud technology, which means that most data is stored in a cloud, it does not take any storage space on your device.
- Your personal security expert: The app is equipped with a personal security advisor, which warns you in a matter of seconds of new dangers and possible threats. To get the information from the security expert, you do not have to update the app manually. All information will be automatically forwarded to you.
- Protected communication: To ensure that not only your device but also your communication is secure, the app ensures that all sent and received data and messages are automatically checked. When the app detects that your messages and data are being intercepted, it warns you in a matter of seconds. This allows you to send confidential information via email or public networks without having to worry about that your data can be read and used by third parties.
- Passwords safely stored: All your passwords and other confidential information, such as your address or credit card information, are stored in external storage. Only you can access this information then.

Conclusion: With Kaspersky Security Cloud you are optimally protected against all threats from the Internet.
